

JACKSON'S OXFORD JOURNAL1800-1804*References to Deddington, Clifton and Hempton

(1) Text in blue italic typeface denotes notices concerning Turnpike Trusts whose Clerk, or joint Clerk, was Samuel Churchill, junior.

Notices by the Banbury, Brailes and Shipston Turnpike Trust, of which Samuel Churchill, junior was joint Clerk, have not been transcribed.

(2) The overwhelming majority of notices and advertisements were repeated, sometimes many times. Notices by Turnpike Trusts would typically be repeated several or more times. Repeat notices and advertisements have not been recorded.

(3) Jackson's Oxford Journal had a tendency to refer to Clifton Hampden, between Abingdon and Dorchester-on-Thames, as Clifton, giving rise to the potential for confusion with Clifton in the parish of Deddington. Relevant newspaper entries have been interpreted in accordance with the context where possible.

MONDAY next, Auguft II, - Banbury and Deddington, Oxon; Waltham St. Lawrence, Berks; Warminfter, Wilts.

Oxford News.

On Tuesday the 19th instant, between the hours of five and six in the afternoon, there fell at Upper Heyford, in this county, a most violent storm of hail, accompanied with thunder and lightning, and succeeded by a tremendous gust of wind; a storm so dreadful in its effects, and so alarming to the beholder, was seldom or never experienced in this country. The hail, or more properly speaking, large irregular pieces of ice, of the size in general of a hen's egg, broke the windows of many houses that were in the direction of the storm, and the whole of Heyford affords a spectacle truly shocking; the corn, a greater part of which is barley, and very little of it cut, appears entirely threshed out by the violence of the hail; scarcely an ear remains whole on the straw, and the ground is totally covered by the shattered corn. The violence of the storm lasted about a quarter of an hour, during which time the poultry suffered much, and the smaller birds of every description were found dead in great numbers on the ground. - Heyford is not the only spot which has suffered, but the violence of the hail appears to have affected the corn more there than at any other place in the neighbourhood.
