No. 1. - Vol. I.

SATURDAY, MAY 31, 1806.

TO THE PUBLIC.

ON the commencement of a periodical publication, it is usual, by way of introduction, to make said observations as may explain the principles on which it will be conducted, to say something without may be added the nature of its begin, and to so like the support of its Readers.

From the Parasurrons of this Part a similar method of proceeding may perhaps be expected, and gratitude, as well as interst, forbids as to disappoint the expectation of the France and of our serious and the Parasurrons of this Part a similar method of proceeding may perhaps be expected and gratitude, as well as interst, forbids as to disappoint the expectation of the France and of our serious as the proceeding may perhaps be expected and gratitude, as well as interest, forbids as to disappoint the expectation of the France and of our serious as the processing our work, we thanke fully acknowledge to have received the greatest renowragement; the continuance of which, we are sensible, must depend on our strenuous and unremitted exections.

We beg leave to assure our Friends and the Pals, that the Oxron Usavirsery and Cru Henats will be conducted in the most liberal manner; and that metither expence not results will be greated as a processing to make it generally useful.
